Co-founder of the Charity and Director of Osteopathy

Co-founder of the Charity and Director of Osteopathy, Stuart Koth is amongst the leading paediatric osteopaths worldwide.

He has been in practice for more than 50 years and has taught in Brazil, Canada, Russia and many European countries.

Co-founder and Director of Osteopathy of the renowned Foundation for Paediatric Osteopathy, Stuart Koth is one of this country's leading osteopaths.

In April 2018, Stuart was presented with an award by The Institute of Classical Osteopathy for his exceptional services to osteopathic practice and education. In November 2020, The Institute of Osteopathy awarded Stuart The Presidents Medal.

"The Council recognises that you have made an enormous contribution to the practice, teaching and awareness of osteopathy in this country. You have made a huge beneficial difference to the lives of children and families through founding and steering the Osteopathic Centre for Children and continued to inspire and educate students to practice Osteopathy in the fullest sense"

As well as his special interest in the treatment of children he sees patients with all manner of unusual problems and is frequently called on to give second opinions. He is in demand as a lecturer throughout Europe. Stuart has three children and five grandchildren, and is a keen yachtsman.
